RGKSKSRG (nomadic)

– invites KVM (Ju Hyun Lee and Ludovic Burel)

FGFG—A Kitchen Debate no.0

Ju Hyun Lee and Ludovic Burel present a live enactment of FGFG—A Kitchen Debate no.0. Situated, theoretically, in the site of the kitchen, KVM invites us to consider two modes of organization: vertical, as demonstrated by engineer Frank Gilbreth, and transversal, as expressed by Félix Guattari. Working through their philoso-food approach, they devise a rhizomatic assembly line that tastefully explores the role, potential, and pitfalls of collaboration in contemporary arts practice.

RGKSKSRG is the combined curatorial practice of Rachael Gilbourne and Kate Strain. Based between Dublin and Graz, RGKSKSRG commissions, presents and contextualizes contemporary art. Through linking with existing organizational structures, RGKSKSRG creates new contexts for engaged encounters between artists and audiences. These contexts can involve artworks, exhibitions, events, writings, residencies, interviews, and live works, within various locations, both online and in real life.
